

Lean-to Veranda

Recognising the trend to 'cross-over' conservatories, Ultraframe has launched a new concept featuring its Classic Plus roof with an extended eaves feature, which forms a really useful veranda facility.

Lean-to Veranda

Conservatories have always been an excellent way for consumers to blur the margin between home and garden, but Ultraframe is taking the idea to a new level with its veranda conservatory. The glazing bars in the roof oversail and carry the glass with it, to form a 'cocoon' where the consumer can sit in the garden and be protected from the worst of the elements.

Moreover, on a warm day - by using large in line sliders or bi-fold doors your customer then has a much bigger space to enjoy, perfect for family barbeques!!

The veranda conservatory features the Classic Plus roof, which comes complete with built-in tracks for fabric panelled shading devices called Shades. Inside the conservatory they feature a soft fabric to theme through with the consumers choice of home furnishings whilst outside under the oversailing eaves/ glazing they are manufactured from a hard wearing and weatherproof fabric, akin to that used in awnings.

And so, having introduced the Orangery to the mass market two years ago, is Ultraframe's veranda also about to raise the roof?
